Please note that the City of Sarasota Engineering Design and Construction Manual 2024 (EDCM 2024) has an effective date of October 1, 2027. All permit applications that are received as complete on or after this date must comply with the 2024 EDCM.

Applicants may choose to implement the 2024 EDCM prior to the effective date; however, it must be applied consistently across all disciplines so that only one EDCM is used for the entire project.

Please acknowledge that the applicant fully understands and agrees that applicant can voluntarily choose for this project to be bound by the standards contained in 2024 EDCM. The applicant further understands and agrees that by voluntarily choosing to proceed under the 2024 EDCM standards, that applicant's entire project, including all phases, will be subject to the standards of 2024 EDCM.

The applicant further understands that for an application to get approval under the 2002 EDCM, a completed DRC application and/or a complete building permit application must be obtained prior to Oct 1, 2027.

Please acknowledge receipt of this notice and confirm below which version of the EDCM will be used for the project.
